

7 March 1952

Dear [redacted]

With further reference to my letter of 11 February 1952, I enclose for your personal and confidential information a memorandum outlining our comments on the paper submitted with your letter of January 25. As you will see, there is some good, and some not so good, information in the memorandum. In my wartime dealings with [redacted], I found the same to be generally the case.

Faithfully yours,

Encl.
